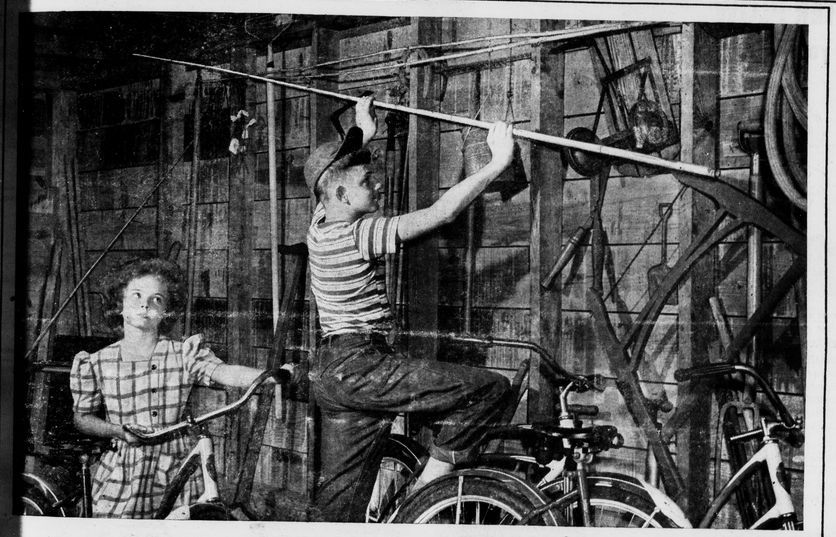
BIG HAINES LYNCHBURG, VIRGINIA



Now, that the fishing season's over ...

Over all the land, future lawyers, doctors, teachers, ministers — and even a governor or a president — have reluctantly put aside many of those things which make summer dear to the heart of every youngster . . . and returned to school and pencils, tablets, and report cards.

Some day these young citizens will realize that the surrender at Yorktown, the mysteries of long division and the principal parts of a sentence, were invaluable short cuts to success. Abraham Lincoln studied by the light of a log fire and became president. That's part of the American Way. Any man, no matter how lowly his beginning, can go as far as his desire and ability will carry him in this land. But today, with our modern educational systems, it's also part of the American Way to smooth the road for our men and women of tomorrow . . . to fit them better, to be better men and women, and better Americans.

The Norfolk and Western, one of the largest taxpayers in the many communities it serves, pays a very large share of tax dollars which contribute materially to the moulding of these youthful minds . . . leaders of the America of tomorrow.

Never drive your car past a school bus that is loading or unloading children. Slow down to the lawful speed in school zones. Observe strictly your local and state traffic laws. Watch out for the school children.
